

Bradford Beacon's Weekly News

Welcome to our Weekly News.

The children's communication skills have been coming on in leaps and bounds this week. They are noticeably thriving by using symbols, objects and their voices more frequently.

We have also welcomed two new members of staff over the past few weeks, Amanda, who is our new class teacher and Callum, who will be supporting the teaching and learning in class and outside.

Our Learning

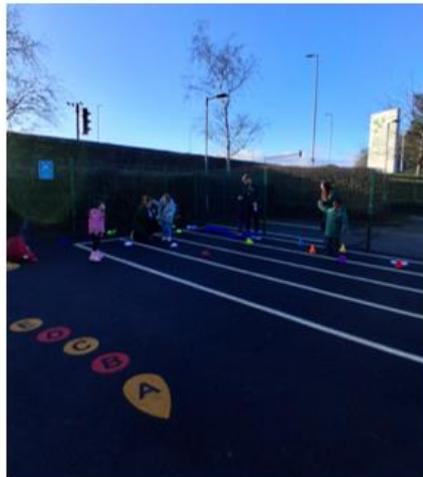

Updates from the Clinical Team:

This week, the clinical team have been supporting new activities at break times.

We have had some new outdoor equipment arrive and we all enjoyed the obstacle course. This involved lots of balancing and moving our bodies!

It's been lovely to see the children playing alongside each other and becoming more confident coordinating themselves.

Attendance

We have seen a huge improvement with attendance this week which has a positive impact on the children's wellbeing as well as their routines.
